

This week has been the most wonderful time....
And the best way to remember must be with a rhyme,

So this this one is written so that we can say...

Thank You, Philip & Gerti for a great holiday!

1st Philip who we know can be very brave,
Cos from lions once Gerti he managed to save..
But when we saw the lions we thought he was witless

And he certainly managed to scare us all shitless!!

So, our goal for the week is to find the Big 5,

Whilst praying we manage to all stay alive!

Then good photos with cameras we'll all try and seek..

Cept for Sue who cries " Philip, can I go take a leak?!"

Don't worry, its ok, I'm really just seeing...

Can I do the Big 5 with Extreme Peeing!?"

The Rhinos we saw with a baby so dinky,
Now bring on the Lions- Cath quick give them a pinky!

"Don't worry," said BK, "They wont worry me, Lions like meat, I eat salad for tea!"

The 3 Cheetahs we saw were a beautiful sight..

But I still prefer just to imagine their bite!

We were close to the Elephants but then off they flew...

"Philip, please try much harder, this simply won't do!"

It's the horses who next must be in this list,
For without them just look at the fun we'd have missed.

From my perfect Theakston to his best mate
McGregor,

To little grey Dinkel whos a right cheeky beggar!

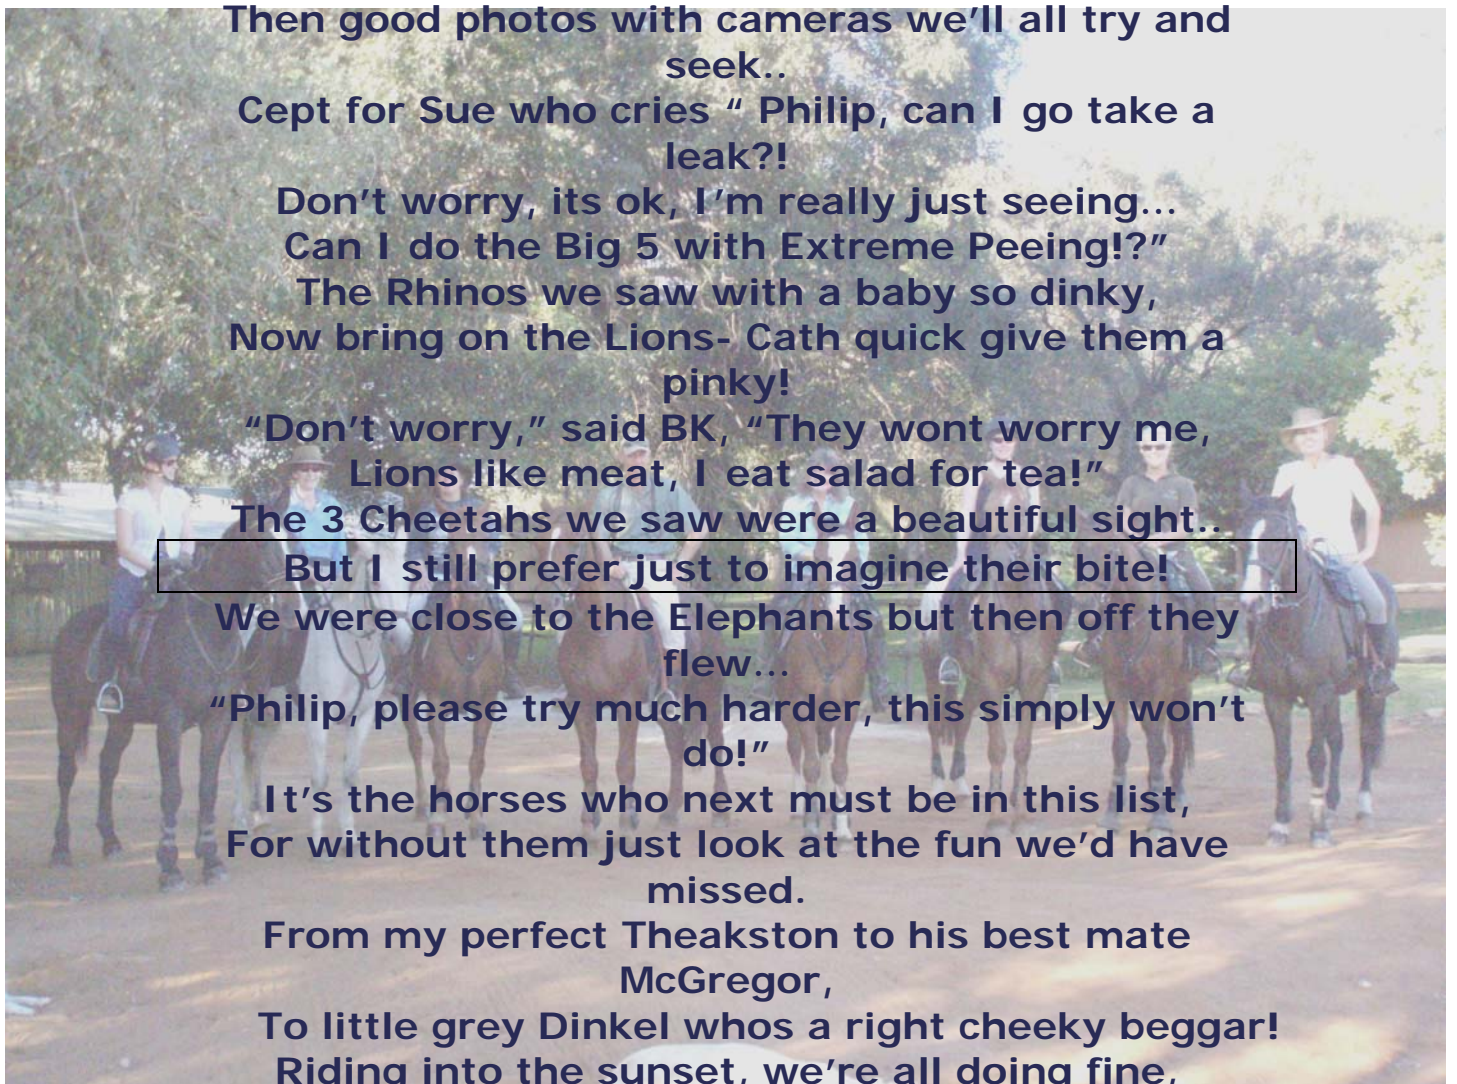

Riding into the sunset, we're all doing fine,

Then Philip beckons to get in a line....

We'll "Just have a go" we won't go very fast

But pretty soon Millie is galloping past!

So Philip then stops-but Cath takes a leap...

And flies through the air to land in a heap!
To capture the moment forever in time..
Laura gets out her camera- "Yes that shots just fine!"

Gerti tells Philip, "If they come back next year,
We'd better be getting some donkeys I fear!"
"However, we know that there's zebra about...
We'll get Kim to try them, Let's give her a shout!
We tried her with Eric that went just dandy,
If she could train the zebra... now that WOULD be handy!

Could we please thank the girls who've been so kind
Taking photos of every pose we could find!
We really have been such a happy bunch,
And I'd love to return for Gerti's wonderful lunch.

It's sad to go home but there's books we can write
And tales to be told well into the night...

But when The Rangers calendars published I'd like
you to note,

It's Philip as Mr April who'll be getting my vote!
Gerti & Philip, you've been an incredible host...
Could we lift up our glasses and give them a toast!!!

